A word from Ruby Watt:

They are finally coming along pretty good on our house, have it all framed, the roof on, have been putting in the wiring, vent work for the heat and air and the windows, They put the wrong windows in the front so had to order the ones we want, I don't know how soon they will come. Once the framework is up at least it looks like a house, what takes the longest now is all the finish work. I will sure miss my garage in OK, it just has a small 2 car with a little storage on one side. I will have to rent a storage place to put the Nomad which I hate, but that is the only option I have. I hope to find someplace close.

They finally have approval from the Dr on the mold for my hip part and have scheduled the surgery for Sept. 10, they said if it happened to be ready any before that they would move it up, but I don't look for that to happen, but at least it's getting closer.
